Well, it appears we received some kind of response from the Ashue PRPs today, hand-delivered, but it does not appear quite as we hoped. It looks like they are agreeing to conduct some further investigation to prove that the material at the dumpsite did not come from the school demolition. However, there is not even a draft work plan for that.

If you're in the office tomorrow, come on up some time after 9:00 am and let's talk.

I know, I know. But for right now, let's give them their full day today to see what they deliver.... I can't imagine they will just blow off the deadline today, but either way, we will be in action tomorrow.

I know it goes without saying, but if you hear anything about Ashue, please let me know. We might need to get together because we are either going to begin reviewing a work plan or we are going to begin preparing for a RSE.
